From the Louisville Democrat.

The Green Lane.

BY WILL WALLACE HARNEY.

The blossoms were thick on many a hedge,
The green leaves hid the thorn.
The sun came down on his milk-white feet
And stood in the standing corn.

When a beautiful maid, with raven hair,
And lips like blood of the rose,
At the end of the grass-green lane I met—
And April was at its close.

She laid a little white hand in mine,
Like a lily leaf newly torn,
And lips like blood of the rose,
And April was at its close.

The mill-wheel clicked by the side of the dam,
The cattle drank at the ford,
But over the scene went a strange bright light
At the sound of a single word.

I felt the presence of darkling eyes;
The blessing of being loved
Sank in my heart, like a gift from God,
Wherever I lived and moved.

But the rainbow season of flowers is past,
And the later summer comes,
Of the headed grain, the dropping pome,
And the purple velvet plums;

And respires are reaping early and late,
In ranks of the golden grain,
As I wait and watch for a coming step
At the end of the grass-green lane.

But it never comes. My heart was a rose,
That into its folds receives
The sun of the summer; but now my heart
Is a heap of withered leaves.

LANDMARKS FOR YOUNG MEN.—Every
young man now arriving at voting age, should examine carefully the history of past Administrations. If he does, he will find that every invasion of the rights of the people,
and every encroachment upon public liberty,
has been made by the opponents of the Democratic party. He will further find that every man who stood up boldly and defended those rights, was a Democrat. Let these landmarks of the past be your guides in the future.

AN EXCELLENT DEFINITION OF GOOD MANNERS.—A writer in the Atlantic tells us that we are always theorizing about
"the world has always been charmed
with fine manners, and why should it not? For what are the manners but this:
to carry yourself on your lips, in your eye,
in the palm of your hand, and yet to stand not naked, but clothed by your individual quality—visible, yet inscrutable—given to the hearts of others, yet contained on your own bosom—nobly and humbly open, yet self-reliant and secured from invasion—
polished manners often disappoint us; good manners never. The former may be taken on by indigent souls; the latter imply a noble and opulent nature."

MEMORY OF WONG.—A rich landlord
once oppressed a poor widow. Her son a little boy of eight years, saw it. He afterward became a painter, and painted a life-likeness of the dark scene. Years afterwards he placed it where the man saw it—
He turned pale, trembled in every joint,
and offered any sum to purchase it that he might put it out of his sight. Thus there is an invisible painter drawing on the canvas of the soul a life-likeness reflecting correctly all the passions and actions of our spiritual history on earth. Eternity will reveal them to every man. We must meet our earth life again.

TO MAKE BLACKBERRY WINE.—There is no wine equal to blackberry wine when it is properly made, in flavor or for medicinal purposes, and all persons who can conveniently do so should manufacture enough for own use every year, as it is invaluable in sickness as a tonic, and nothing is better remedy for bowel complaint. I therefore give the receipt for making it:

Measure your berries and bruise them; to every gallon add one quart of boiling water.
Let the mixture stand twenty-four hours,
stirring occasionally; then strain off the liquid into a cask; to every gallon add two pounds of sugar; cork tight and let it stand till the following October, and you will have wine ready for use without further straining or boiling, that will make lips smack that never smacked under similar influences before.

AFFECTING INCIDENT.—An inebriated
veteran, just returning from the big wars,
and feeling jolly in consequence of his recent discharge, in passing a tobacco store,
yesterday, at the door which stands a wooden representation of the legendary Indian pipe in hand, stepped up to it and clasping
it by the neck in the most affectionate manner exclaimed in pathetic tones, "Let me kiss him for his mother!" The tone of voice and gestures, and the scene were so perfectly ludicrous that it was received by the by-standers with shouts of laughter.—

Highly Important Correspondence

BETWEEN C. C. CLAY, JR., J. B. HOLCOMB, GEORGE N. SANDERS OF THE SOUTHERN CONFEDERACY AND HORACE GREELEY OF
THE UNITED STATES—THE PRESIDENT'S LETTER TO MESSRS. CLAY AND HOLCOMB
—PEACE PROPOSED, &c.

BUFFALO, July 21.—The following correspondence explains itself:

[COPY—PRIVATE AND CONFIDENTIAL.]

CLIFTON HOUSE, NIAGARA FALLS, C. W.,
July 12, 1864.

DEAR SIR: I am authorized to say, that
Hon. Clement C. Clay, of Ala., Professor
James H. Holcomb, of Va., and George N.
Sanders, of Dixie, are ready and willing to go at once to Washington upon complete and unqualified protection being given,
either by the President or Secy. of War; let the permission include three names and one other.

Very Respectfully,
[Signed] GEO. N. SANDERS.

To Hon. HORACE GREELEY.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., July 17, 1864.

GENTLEMEN: I am extremely informed that you are duly accredited from Richmond as the bearers of propositions looking to the establishment of peace. That you desire to visit Washington in the fulfillment of your mission, and that you further desire that Mr. Geo. N. Sanders shall accompany you, if my information be thus far substantially correct. I am authorized by the President of the United States, to tender you his safe conduct on the journey proposed, and to accompany you at the earliest time that will be agreeable to you. I have the honor to be, gentlemen,

[Signed] HORACE GREELEY.

Messrs. Clement C. Clay, Jacob Thompson,
James B. Holcomb, Clifton House, Canada West.

CLIFTON HOUSE, NIAGARA FALLS,
July 18, 1864.

SIR:—We have the honor to acknowledge your favor of the 17th inst., which would have been answered yesterday but for the absence of Mr. Clay. The safe conduct of the President of the United States has been tendered us, we regret to state, under some misapprehension of facts.

We have not been accredited to him from Richmond as the bearers of propositions looking to the establishment of peace; we are, however, in the confidential employment of our Government and entirely familiar with its wishes and opinions on that subject; and we feel authorized to declare that if the circumstances disclosed in this correspondence were communicated to Richmond, we would be at once invested with the authority to which your letter refers, or other gentlemen with full powers would immediately be sent to Washington with the view of hastening a consummation so much to be desired and terminating at the earliest possible moment the calamities of war. We respectfully solicit through your intervention a safe conduct to Washington and thence by any route which may be designated through your lines to Richmond.—
We would be gratified if Mr. George N.
Sanders was embraced in this privilege.

Permit us in conclusion to acknowledge our obligations to you for the interest you have manifested in the furtherance of our wishes, and to express the hope that in any event you will afford us the opportunity of tendering them in person before you leave the Falls. We remain, very respectfully,
C. C. CLAY, JR.

J. H. HOLCOMB.

P. S.—It is proper to add that Mr.
Thompson is not here, and has not been staying with us since our sojourn in Canada.

INTERNATIONAL HOTEL,

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., July 18, 1864.

Gentlemen:—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of yours of this date, by the hand of Mr. W. C. Jewett. The state of affairs therein presented being materially different from that which was understood to exist when he entrusted me with the safe conduct required, it seems to me on every account advisable that I should communicate with him by telegraph and solicit fresh instructions, which I shall at once proceed to do. I hope to be able to transmit the result this afternoon, and at all events, I shall do so at the earliest moment.

Yours truly,
HORACE GREELEY.

To Messrs. C. C. CLAY and J. H. HOLCOMB,
Clifton House, C. W.

CLIFTON HOUSE, NIAGARA FALLS,
July 18, 1864.

Hon. Horace Greeley, Niagara Falls, N. Y.

We have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your note of this date, by the hands of Col. Jewett, and will await the further answer which you propose to send to us, very respectfully &c.

[Signed] C. C. CLAY, JR.

J. H. HOLCOMB.

INTERNATIONAL HOTEL, NIAGARA FALLS,
July 19, 1864.

GENTLEMEN: At a late hour last evening,
too late for communication with you, I received a dispatch from the President informing me that further instructions left Washington last evening which must reach me if there be no interruption by noon to-morrow.
Should you decide to await their arrival, I feel confident that they will enable me to answer definitely your note of yesterday morning. Regarding delay, which I am sure you will regard as unavoidable on my part,
I remain yours truly,

[Signed] HORACE GREELEY.

To Messrs. Clay and J. H. Holcomb.

CLIFTON HOUSE, July 19, 1864.

SIR:—Col. Jewett has just handed us your note of this date, in which you state that further instructions from Washington will reach you by noon to-morrow, if there be no interruption. One, or possibly both of us may be obliged to leave the Falls to-day, but will return in time to receive the communication which you propose to-morrow.

We remain truly yours, &c.

[Signed] J. H. HOLCOMB.

C. C. CLAY, JR.

To Hon. Horace Greeley.

EXECUTIVE MANSION, WASHINGTON,
July 18, 1864.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN.—Any proposition which embraces the restoration of peace, the integrity of the whole Union, and the abandonment of slavery, and which comes by and with an authority that can control armies now at war against the United States, will be read and considered by the Executive Government of the United States, and will be met by liberal terms on substantial and collateral points, and the bearer or bearers thereof shall have safe conduct both ways.

[Signed] ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

Major Hay would respectfully inquire whether Prof. Holcomb and the gentlemen associated with him desire to send to Washington by him (Major Hay) any message in reference to the communication delivered to him on yesterday, and in that case when he may expect to be favored with such messages.

INTERNATIONAL HOTEL, Thursday.

Mr. Holcomb presents his compliments to Major Hay, and greatly regrets if his return to Washington has been delayed by any expectation of an answer to the communication that Mr. Holcomb received from him yesterday, to be delivered to the President of the United States. This communication was accepted as a response to the letter of Messrs. Holcomb and Clay to Hon.
Horace Greeley, and to that gentleman has been transmitted.

CLIFTON, C. W., July 21.

The following is a copy of the original letter held by me, to deliver to Hon. Horace Greeley, and which duplicate I now furnish to the Associated Press.

[Signed] WM. CORNELIUS JEWETT.

CLIFTON HOUSE, C. W., July 21.

To Hon. Horace Greeley:

SIR: The paper handed to Mr. Holcomb yesterday, in your presence by Major Hay, A. A. G., as an application in our note of the 18th inst., is couched in the following terms:

EXECUTIVE MANSION,

WASHINGTON, July 18, 1864.

To whom it may concern:

Any proposition which embraces the restoration of peace, the integrity of the whole Union and the abandonment of slavery and which comes by and with an authority that can control the armies now at war against the United States, will be received and considered by the Executive Government of the United States, and will be met by liberal terms on other and substantial and collateral points, and the bearer or bearers thereof
shall have safe conduct both ways.

[Signed] ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

The application to which we refer was elicited by your letter of the 17th, in which you inform Mr. Thompson and ourselves that you were authorized by the President of the United States, to tender us his safe conduct on the hypothesis that we were fully accredited from Richmond, as bearers of propositions looking to the re-establishment of peace and desired to visit Washington, in the fulfillment of this mission.

This assertion to which we then gave
and still do, entire credence, was accepted by us as evidence of an unexpected, but most gratifying change in the policy of the President, and changes which we felt authorized to hope might terminate in the conclusion of a peace mutually just, honorable and advantageous to the North and to the South, exacting no condition, but that we should be duly accredited from Richmond
as bearers of propositions looking to the establishment of peace, thus proffering a basis for conference as comprehensive as we could desire. It seemed to us that the President opened door which had previously been closed against the Confederate States for full interchange of sentiments, free discussion of conflicting opinions, and untram-melled effort to remove all causes of controvert by liberal negotiation, we indeed could not claim the benefit of a safe conduct,
which had been extended to us in a character we had no right to assume, and had never affected to possess; but the uniform declaration of our Executive and Congress, and their thrice repeated,
and as often repeated, attempts to open negotiations furnished a sufficient pledge that this conciliatory manifestation on the part of the United States would be met by them in a temper of equal magnanimity. We had therefore, no hesitation in declaring that if this correspondence was communicated to the President of the Confederacy he would promptly embrace the opportunity presented for seeking a peaceful solution of this unhappy strife. We feel confident that you will join in profound regret that the spirit which dictated the first step toward peace should not have continued to animate the councils of your President.

Had the representatives of the two governments met to consider this question, the most momentous ever submitted to human statesmanship in a spirit of becoming moderation and equity, they would have been followed by their deliberations have been
by prayers and benedictions of every patriot and Christian on the habitable globe. Who is there so bold as to pronounce that the rightful waste of individual happiness and public prosperity which is daily adding to the universal heart might not have been terminated.

The desolation and carnage of war must still be endured though weary years of blood and suffering, that there might not at least have been infused into its conduct
something more of the spirit which softens and partially redeems its brutalities. Instead of the safe conduct which we solicited and which your first letter gave us every reason to suppose would be extended for the purpose of facilitating negotiation in which neither Government would compromise its rights or its dignity.

A document has been presented which provokes as much indignation as surprise.—
It bears no feature of resemblance to that which was originally offered, and unlike any paper which ever before emanated from the constitutional Executive of a free people.
Addressed to whom it may concern, it precludes negotiation and prescribes in advance terms and conditions of peace; it returns to the original policy of no bargaining, no negotiations, no trace with rebels until every man shall have laid down his arms submitted to the Government and sued for mercy.

What may be the explanation of this sudden and entire change in views of the President, of this rude withdrawal of a cautious overture for negotiation at the moment
it was likely to be accepted, of this emphatic recall of words of peace just uttered, and fresh blasts of war to the bitter end, we leave for the speculative who have means or inclination to penetrate the mysteries of this cabinet or fathom the caprice of his imperial will.

It is enough for us to say that we have been placed in our hands. We could not transmit it to the President of the Confederate States without offering him an indignity, dishonoring ourselves, and incurring
the well merited scorn of our countrymen.
Whilst an ardent desire for peace pervades the people of the Confederate States, we rejoice to believe that there are few, if any among them, who would purchase it at the expense of liberty, honor and self-respect.

If it can be secured only by their submission to terms of conquest, the generation is yet unborn which will witness its restoration. If there be any military autocrat in the North who is entitled to proffer the conditions of this manifesto, there is none in the South authorized to entertain them.—
Those who control our armies are servants of the people, not their masters, and they have no more inclination than they have right to subvert social institutions of sovereignty to overthrow their established constitution and to barter away their heritage of self-government.

The correspondence will not, however;
we trust, prove wholly barren of good results. If there be any citizen of the Confederate States who has clung to the hope that peace was possible with this administration of the Federal Government, it will strip from his eyes the last film of any such delusion; or it there be any whose hearts have grown faint under the suffering and anxiety of this bloody struggle it will inspire them with fresh energy to endure and brave whatever may yet be requisite to preserve to themselves and their children all that gives dignity and value to life, or hope and consolation to death, and if there be any patriots or Christians in your land who shrink appalled from the illimitable virtue of private misery and public calamity,
which stretches before them, we pray that in their bosom a resolution may be quickened to reclaim the abused authority, and vindicate outraged civilization of their country for the solicitude you have manifested to inaugurate a movement which contemplates results the most noble and humane. We return our sincere thanks, and are most respectfully and truly, your obedient servants,

[Signed] C. C. CLAY, JR.

JAMES H. HOLCOMB.

CLIFTON HOUSE, July 20, 1864.

Colonel W. C. Jewett, Cataract House Niagara Falls New York:

SIR—We are in receipt of your note advising us of the departure of Hon. Horace Greeley from the Falls, and that he regrets the sad termination of the initiatory steps taken for peace in consequence of the change made by the President in his instructions to convey Commissioners to Washington for negotiation, unconditional, and that Mr.
Greeley will be pleased to receive any answer we may have to make through you.

We avail ourselves of this effort to enclose a letter to Mr. Greeley, which you will oblige us by delivering. We cannot take leave of you without expressing our thanks for your courtesy and kind offices,
as the intermediary through whom our correspondence with Mr. Greeley has been conducted, and assuring you that we are,
Very Respectfully,

Your Obedient Servants,

C. C. CLAY, JR.

J. H. HOLCOMB.

COMMERCE.—What has commerce done
for the world, that its history should be explored, its philosophy illustrated, its claim advanced among the influences which impel civilization? It has enabled man to avail himself of the peculiarities of climate or position, to make that division of labor which tends to equalize society, to distribute the production of earth, and to reach the benefit of kindly dependence. It unites distant branches of the human family, cultivates the relation between them, encourages an interest in each other and promotes that brotherly feeling which is the strongest guarantee of permanent friendship. People differing in creed, in language, in dress, in custom, are brought in contact, to prove their condition by supplying the wants of one from the abundance of the other. The friendly intercourse created by commerce is slowly but surely revolutionizing the earth.
There was a time when met only on the field of battle, and there was but one name for strangers and enemy. Now, wherever a ship floats, the various emblems of sovereignty intermingle in harmony, and the sons of commerce, the wide world through, in consulting their own interest, advance the cause of humanity and peace.

The editor of the Easton Argus (Pennsylvania) says: "We saw a sight at the Lehigh Valley Depot, on Friday last, such as we never expected to see in this free country. A white man and a filthy negro,
both said to be deserters from the army,
were chained together by iron clasps around their wrists. In this condition they were marched through the public streets of Easton, on their way to the depot. That is carrying out the abolition of equality of the races, with a vengeance."

TO PICKLE ONIONS.—Procure the smallest clear onions, peel them and lay them in cold salt and water for eight or ten days, changing the water each day. Drain them on a sieve, put them in a jar and pour boiling hot brine over them; let them stand closely covered until cold. Repeat the scalding with new pickle, and when cold and well drained, put them in bottles, with one or two slices of ginger, one blade of mace, and one bay leaf; fill up with distilled vinegar,
and add sweet salad oil to float on the top.
Tie them close, cork, and seal down for store.

Chronicles of Crabville.

"To point a moral and adorn a tale."

Situated upon the banks of a beautiful
river, and surrounded by towering hills,
Crabville reposes in all the majesty of a Carthage or Troy; and was to be the sorry wight who would dare gaudy her importance or seek to draw unfriendly comparisons.
In enterprise and energy she has not allowed herself to be outdone by other places, but in proportion as the times progressed, has kept pace with the swiftest. Tradition tells us of her Railroad, whose Depot to this day looms grandly up an imposing monument of her ambitious "intent." And although the road was sold to pay for the rails and the Depot finally was sold to pay for the ground
it stood on, it does not lessen the laudability
of the enterprise one whit, for,

"Twere better to have tied and failed,
Than never to have tried at all."

Crabville has her churches, also her Court House, her public halls and schools, and it is of these latter that we desire to record a few incidents. She has quite a number of schools in fact, but there is a certain old school and school not quite so old, that we wish particularly to notice. In order that there may be no confusion of names or mistaken impressions, we will style one the Jones Seminary, and the other the Browns Institute. The Jones Seminary was a good school, nobody ever dared to doubt that, it flourished in the superlative degree for twenty-five years or more, and yielded ample evidence in that time of its meritorious qualities. But as Crabville enlarged and grew in importance and respectability, there was room made for another school, and forthwith there came from Gotham a lone,
lone woman, who dared, in the face of the Jonesites and all Crabville, to flout the her card as "Miss Brown Principal of the Crabville Literary Institute." Presumptuous woman! All Crabville were Jonesites, then where could she expect to get a patronage? But the weeks flew by and a patronage came. The school was filled with children, but from whence they arrived we do not presume to say; it would be as easy to tell where all the pigs go as to tell where all the children come from. But true as preaching is it that Miss Brown's Institute was quite as full as Professor Jones'
Seminary and the two school started out like two gallant vessels—full freighted, upon the sea of popular opinion. The months rolled on and June brought the close of another scholastic year. The time for annual examinations arrived and the Jonesites,
right of pre-emption came first to lay claim on the public attention. As usual they came out splendidly, not a feather had fallen from their cap of glory. They had been taught upon the "speak when you're spoken to" plan and every prepared question
met with its promptly prepared answer.—
The examination closed. Every Jonesite was self-satisfied and expectations now stood on tip-toe for the ensuing week, when the Brownites would come forward for their share of Crabville's consideration. The week came and found the inmates of Brown Institute, marshalled in imposing phalanx
before the inquisitive eyes of all Crabville.
Unlike the Jonesites, they had been taught to recite their lessons by Topic. Quite an unheard of plan in this section of country;
a plan that Miss Brown had brought away from Gotham and introduced herself by way of experiment. In slang parlance, "the thing took." Every body admired Miss Brown's method of teaching and congratulated
her. Even Professor Jones, of the Jones Seminary, came forward and extended the hand of affiliation. Miss Brown waxed jubilant of course, and at the close of her examination, favored the public with one of those pleasant little entertainments, styled Exhibitions. This, also, was a new invention, and Crabville stared. The design was merely to present

Gold closed in New York Tuesday, at $260.

There are now 9,000 rebel prisoners in the barracks at Rock Island, (Ill.) and 5,377 at Camp Douglas, Chicago. There are also several hundred at Alton.

Government bagged fourteen thousand dollars by sale of confiscated property in Alexandria.

A New York lady has hired three men to go to the war for her since hostilities commenced.

The Democracy of Indiana, are very sanguine of electing their ticket by 10,000 majority.

The wheat crop of New Jersey will be larger this year than ever before.

The price paid in New York on Thursday for three year substitutes was $800, and for one year substitutes $300.

The public schools at Buffalo, N. Y. offer prizes to the young lady pupils for the best loaf of bread. This is a much needed accomplishment.

A man was robbed of $10,000 in the Eagle Bank, Boston, on Friday. He laid the bundle on the counter, and somebody picked it up while he was counting another roll of bills.

The demand at the United States Mint on one and two cent pennies far exceeds the supply. From two hundred to four hundred dollars' worth are coined daily. Many persons residing out of the city have had deposits at the Mint for some three months, waiting for their turn.

Confederate Bonds, in England, have advanced to 76 1/2.

Washington Correspondent of the Cincinnati Enquirer.

Washington, July 21, 1864.

To the Editor of the Enquirer:

Since I closed my letter at noon, a new sensation has appeared on the political board. The word Peace has been uttered this afternoon as if it had some significance. We find that two prominent friends of the Administration have, with the direct approval and aid of Mr. Lincoln, visited Richmond, held conferences with Jeff. Davis and his Secretary of War, and returned highly pleased with the courtesy with which they were received and treated at the Confederate Capital. Then on the other side, we have the correspondence between certain Confederate gentlemen, Horace Greeley and the President in relation to a restoration of the Union by means of peace. No other talk has been heard this afternoon, except about these two missions. Though neither of the quasi commissioners—those from the North to Richmond, nor those at Niagara had official authority, yet each acted with the consent of its respective government; and that is a mode often resorted to by belligerent parties, to ascertain the sentiments of the other preliminary to regulate authorized negotiations.

The Commissioners to Richmond were Colonel Jos. F. Jacques, of the 73d Illinois volunteers, and Mr. Edward Kierke, a gentleman of some literary pretensions and it is well understood they went to Richmond to ascertain, if the war could not be stopped by a return of the seceded states on terms alike honorable to both parties. They were in Richmond three days, had free conference with Mr. Davis and his Secretary, Mr. Benjamin, on the subject of their visit, were treated like gentlemen, and returned in good spirits.

You have doubtless read the result of the attempt made by the Southern Commissioners, at Niagara, to obtain an interview with Mr. Lincoln. It was a failure. The contrast between the conduct of the authorities, at Richmond, towards Messrs. Jacques and Kierke, and that of Lincoln to Messrs. Clay and Holcomb, is a painful one to the people of the North. It shows there are gentlemen at the head of the government at Richmond, and a boor at the head of the government at Washington. The former are not afraid to be talked to on the subject of our difficulties by even unofficial visitors, while the latter seems to think that not only his own dignity, but the cause of the North itself, would be compromised by a conference with gentlemen from the Confederacy. Humanity and civilization will accord to the authorities at Richmond the meed of praise for their willingness to listen to any person on the subject of peace who comes within their lines, by permission of the President of the United States.

Mr. Lincoln lays down a finality, which, without being first accepted to by the South, will preclude any conference for a settlement. That finality is the unconditional abolition of slavery. He will not listen to peace on any other terms. He will not bear what the South may have to say. He closes all avenues of conciliation except through that one door. He says the war shall not stop until the blacks are all freed. He says that this is not a war for the Union, but a war for the negro. He says that he orders conscriptions, that men are torn from their families, their relatives and friends not to restore the Union, but to free the negro. He admits that we are making an enormous public debt, that will bring untold sorrow upon toil and labor, not for our liberty or the protection of our government, or the preservation of our national life, but to make the negro like the white man. He sets up a condition precedent, which must be performed before the seceded States can return to the Union, and which he has no authority to impose. This war is to be continued for no other object than the abolition of slavery, Mr. Lincoln gives that to be distinctly understood. The country will know hereafter precisely what the South may have to say. Every soldier will know what he is fighting for, and every one that is killed, will lose his life not for the Union, the Stars and Stripes, but for the negro.

PROCLAMATION.

EXECUTIVE OFFICE,
FRANKFORT, KY., July 22, 1864

To the Officer of Elections and Citizens of Kentucky:

On the 1st Monday in August next an election throughout the State, will be held, to fill various important county and district offices.

The Constitution makes it the duty of the Chief Executive "to take care that the laws be faithfully executed."

This duty can only be performed through the agencies given by law for their execution. All laws must be "executed" through the appointed agents, and in the manner prescribed by law; otherwise the pretended execution will be a violation of law.

The officers of election are the only agents through whom the elections under the Constitution and laws, can be lawfully conducted.

It is the duty of the officers of election to see that it be conducted in conformity with the Constitution and laws of the State. The right of free suffrage is secured to every citizen having the legal qualification to vote, and adequate penalties are denounced against "all undue influence thereon from power, bribery, tumult, or other improper practices."

Every good citizen, who would preserve the right of "free suffrage," should give his assistance, when required, to aid the Officers of election in the faithful discharge of their duties, according to law.

The Officers of Election, legally appointed have the exclusive right to determine whether any one who demands to vote, has the requisite qualifications fixed by the Constitution and laws; and any attempt, directly or indirectly, to interfere with or control the exercise of that discretion; or any imposition by them or by others of any test or oath upon the voter, other than that prescribed by law, will be a violation of the law, and an infraction of the right of "free suffrage," and will subject the offender, whoever he may be, to the penalties fixed by law. As all the citizens have a common as well as an individual interest, in preserving "free suffrage" to those by law entitled thereto, I appeal to all, regardless of their political, partisan, or personal preferences, to give their earnest aid in and co-operation to the faithful execution of the election laws. Bear in mind, that each should have his qualifications tested by the rules prescribed by law, and that, while it is in the discretion of the judges and officers of election to require of every voter to submit to every legal test, yet any test or oath not prescribed by law can not be imposed upon any voter; and the imposition of any unlawful test to the exclusion of a voter, stamps perjury upon the soul of such officers, and subjects to the penalties denounced by law. Trusting that the officers and citizens will honestly and faithfully observe the laws, I propose to direct your attention to the only tests which can be legally imposed.

The Constitution declares that, "every free white male citizen of the age of 21 years, who has resided in the State two years, or in the county, town, or city, in which he offers to vote, one year next preceding the election, shall be a voter; but such voters shall have been for sixty days next preceding the election a resident of the precinct in which he offers to vote, and he shall vote in said precinct, and not elsewhere."

To be qualified to vote, the person must be free—must be white—must be a male—must be a citizen, either native born or naturalized, and have the residence of two years in the State, and sixty days in the precinct; or one year in the county, town, or city, and sixty days in the precinct where he offers to vote.

If any one of these tests be wanting the voter should be excluded.

When officers of election do not know a person offering to vote to be a qualified elector, it is their duty to interrogate him under oath as to his qualification. "If from his statement he appears to be qualified he shall be admitted to vote, unless his right is disputed by one of the Judges or Sheriff, or some other person present. If so disputed, the Judges shall hear witness, not exceeding two in number on each side, as to his qualifications, and decide as may appear right from the proof and the statement of the party." (Revised Statutes, 434.)

Rules by which officers are to determine the residence and citizenship of an elector, are prescribed in Article 3, Chap. 32, page 432 to 435, vol. 1, Revised Statutes.

Citizenship, whether by birthright or naturalization, is lost, and all right to vote, by committing the offenses embraced in the act approved March 11, 1862, known as the law of Expiration, viz:

Chapter 509—AN ACT to amend chapter 15 of the Revised Statutes, entitled "Citizens, Expiration, and Aliens."

1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, That any citizen of this State who shall be taken into the service of the so called Confederate States in civil or military capacity, or into the service of the so called Provisional Government of Kentucky, in either civil or military capacity, or having heretofore entered such service of either the Confederate States or Provisional Government, shall continue in such service after this act takes effect, or shall take up or continue in arms against the military forces of the United States or the State of Kentucky, or shall give voluntary aid and assistance to those in arms against said forces, shall be deemed to have expatriated himself, and shall no longer be a citizen of Kentucky, or shall be again be a citizen, except by permission of the Legislature, by a general or special statute.

2. That whenever a person attempts or is called on, to exercise any of the constitutional or legal rights and privileges belonging only to citizens of Kentucky, he may be required to negative on oath the expatriation provided in the first section of this act; and upon his failure or refusal to do so, shall not be permitted to exercise any such right or privilege.

3. This act to be of force in thirty days from and after its passage.

If an applicant to vote is believed to come within the provisions of the Expiration act aforesaid, he should be required to negative on oath, the facts set forth in the 1st section as disqualification. In times like the present, in many localities, it would not be an improper exercise of caution, to require all applicants to negative on oath the acts which expatriate those who commit them. But under pain of violating the law, let nothing be added to, or diminished from the oath prescribed by law. The law requires the person offering to vote should state on oath, that he has not entered into the service of the so called Confederate States, in either a civil or military capacity nor into the service of the so called Provisional Government of Kentucky in either a civil or military capacity, since the 10th day of April 1862, nor has he continued in such service since that date; nor has he given since that date any voluntary aid and assistance to those in arms against the United States or the State of Kentucky.

This embraces all that any voter upon the subject of expatriation can be lawfully required to state on oath. The embodying of any other facts will be violation of the oath and duty of the officers of election.

These rules embody the existing law in regard to all elections in Kentucky, except that, at a Presidential election, the State are allowed, by express statute, to vote in their respective camps.

As the chief Executive I enjoin upon all officers charged with the execution of the assistance of all good citizens, as they would preserve their chartered liberties, cordially to assist the constituted authorities, to "take care that the laws be faithfully executed."

THOS. E. BRAMLETTE.

Movement of the Guerrillas in this State.

From the Louisville Democrat.

FROM THE CUMBERLAND RIVER.—In the Democrat, some days since, we made mention of the capture and burning of the steamer St. Louis, on the Cumberland river. We understand that the river, from the mouth to Clarksville, is infested with guerrillas, and now that the river has become low, they will endeavor to capture all the boats that ascend that stream. The guerrillas along the banks are a squad of from twenty to sixty, and only fire on such boats as are escorted by the gunboats.

We yesterday received a letter from a gentleman on board of the steamer Mercury, which gives the following particulars of the attack on the boats in the Cumberland on the 18th. Before the St. Louis was burned, the barge of coffee and a barge in tow of the Mercury were both burned.

The guerrillas, after they got possession of the St. Louis, commenced a wholesale species of robbery, and not a passenger or one of the crew escaped, all being relieved of their money and other valuables. They also entered the clerk's office, broke open the safe, and took from $500 to 600 at the time the St. Louis was fired. There were a number of negroes in the hold, two of whom perished in the flames. Among the crew of the boat they recognized one negro man whom they claimed belonged to John Morgan. The Mercury, which attempted to take on board the crew of the St. Louis, was attacked, but succeeded in backing out in the stream before the guerrillas had a chance of boarding her. Capt. Wilkes, who had command of the Mercury, started up the stream with his steamer, and the rebels, seeing his movements, cut across the fields and shot at the boat as she approached. Some 100 shots were fired, four of which struck the pilot-house, but fortunately no one was hurt.

The Cumberland is still infested with these gangs of guerrillas, and no boats are able to ascend that stream without being accompanied by gunboats.

GUERRILLAS AT CLOVERPORT.—A private letter from Cloverport states that, on Thursday night, the quiet of that peaceful town was disturbed by the entrance into the midst of about forty guerrillas, under command of one Bill Porter, who is said to be a notorious character. At the time they entered the town they had in their possession some seven or eight horses, which had been stolen on the road between there and Hardinsburg. When they entered the town they placed pickets on the principle roads and would allow no one to pass. That night they encamped at the fair grounds.

Some of the men came to the city, procured whisky, and in a short time the entire party were intoxicated. They entered the town and made night hideous with their yells, and towards morning they took all the good horses and left, leaving their broken wheels and the carcasses of the good horses, which they no doubt called an excellent swap. Our informant did not state in what direction they went. Beyond stealing the horses, they committed no depredations upon the citizens.

AFFAIRS AT HENDERSON.—Our latest news up to the time of this writing, is that but a small force of guerrillas appeared in the vicinity of Henderson on Thursday, and no fighting occurred. Some correspondence was held between the Federal command and the rebel troops, but so many differences were put upon it, that we are unable to ascertain the facts in the case.

The most reasonable of all the reports is that the guerrillas, hearing that two of their party were to be executed to revenge the death of Colonel Pool, made the demonstration against Henderson to prevent the execution, and, if possible, rescue the prisoners. Parties visited Henderson and, as we learn, procured an order that the prisoners should not be executed until further orders, after which all was quiet at Henderson. The forces which advanced upon Henderson are variously estimated at from one hundred to seven hundred, but under whose command we have not been definitely informed.

REPORTED FIGHT AT HOPKINSVILLE.—Passengers who arrived from below yesterday report that a considerable force of guerrillas approached Hopkinsville, Christian county, and demanded the surrender of that place, which demand was refused. A lively skirmish ensued, in which our troops were repulsed, with a loss of 23 killed, wounded and missing. We were unable to learn the full particulars, and give the report as we heard it.

We learn that Col. Grider with a small force of mounted Kentucky Infantry, was attacked at Morganfield on Friday and Saturday last, by an organized Confederate force of 200 men, under Col. Seipert. The report states that 40 of the rebels were killed and wounded, while our loss in killed and wounded and prisoners was near 100.

The pickets near the magazine, on the line of the Covington fortifications were fired upon a few nights since, by some person whom they had halted. The individual made his escape.

General Rosecrans has sent Mrs. Harriet W. Snead and Mrs. J. E. Hough beyond our lines. Mrs. Ada Haynes has been sent North, with instructions not to reside west or south of the State of New York during the rebellion.

The installation of the Most Rev. John McClosky as Archbishop of New York will take place on Sunday, August 21st.

The Great Battle of Friday.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—The Republican extra says dispatches to the Government represent that a great battle was fought at Atlanta on Friday, resulting in horrible slaughter and a complete repulse of the enemy at every point. The rebels, holding the largest part of the city, assaulted our works on that day with great fury, evidently expecting to drive our forces out of the city.

The 15th corps, commanded by General Frank Blair, seemed to be the special object of rebel wrath, as they massed against it in overwhelming force. The 15th received the shock gallantly, and held its own until General Dodge, with the 16th Corps, came up, when the rebels were hurled back with great slaughter.

General Logan, at the head of the 17th Corps went into battle with the rallying cry of "remember McPherson." This corps as well as Blair's both constituting the army under Major General McPherson, fought desperately the news of the death of their brave commander having been communicated to them just before going into battle.

Our troops buried one thousand rebels left on the field within our lines beside which the rebels buried many of their own dead near their works. It is estimated that the rebel killed and wounded on Friday will exceed six thousand.

Our loss will reach twenty-five hundred. The 15th Corps suffered severely.

While the work of burying the dead and removing the wounded was going on Saturday, Sherman's heavy artillery was playing upon the city. At the same time large fires were observed to be caused by the destruction of supply depots and other rebel property which the enemy could not carry off and did not wish to have fall into our hands. This is considered evidence of their intention to evacuate the place.

Several rebel Generals are reported killed but their names are not yet given.

The Gen. Williams referred to as "Old Cerro Gordo," in the following extract, is Gen. John S. Williams, formerly a candidate for Congress in this district.

Special Correspondence to the Atlanta Appeal.

IN FRONT OF ATLANTA, Tuesday, July 19. The fight on Nance's Creek yesterday between William's brigade and Hooker's entire corps, turns out to have been of more importance than it was at first supposed.

Finding that they were advancing in heavy force, Old "Cerro Gordo" determined to impede their advance as much as possible, until the commander-in-chief should be notified, and make preparations to meet them.

Dismissing his men, and concealing them in a dense undergrowth, he brought up two pieces of artillery, and hastily constructed a masked battery upon the opposite side of the road from the direction in which they were advancing. The rebel position, which was ordered to charge, afforded them a fine view in their front. They had been in position but a short time, when the enemy's skirmishers were discovered, who pressed forward closely followed by the main body, marching in column. Their skirmishers were allowed to approach within twenty paces, when the signal was given, and a murderous fire was poured into them at point blank range; the artillery opening at the same time with shell and canister upon the head of the column. The enemy broke and fled in wild confusion, but were again reformed, and advanced in line of battle. General Williams then withdrew about one mile and formed another ambuscade, into which the enemy fell again; but after wavering some time, finally advanced again, and tried to flank him upon the right. The 1st Kentucky, then in reserve, was ordered to charge, which was done in gallant style, led by the gallant and intrepid McCawley, they closed upon the foe, and a hand-to-hand encounter took place, which has not been equaled during the war; our men using the butts of their guns and pistols, and the enemy their bayonets. Owing to the density of the thicket, many of the officers were in advance of the line, and Lieut. Col. Griffin, commanding the regiment, came suddenly upon the enemy, and boldly advanced demanded their surrender, telling him he had a regiment with him, to which they replied, "had an army corps, and called upon him to surrender, which he, together with his Adjutant and five of his Captains, were captors had scarcely begun to rejoice over them before the gallant 1st was upon them, and driving them back in wild disorder, they recaptured all of them; also, the body of the gallant McCawley, and thereby saving the horses and artillery.

Five times during the day were they ambuscaded, and General Williams estimates their loss at five hundred killed and wounded, and twenty-two prisoners. Our loss was twenty-one, including Captain McCawley, who, General Williams says was the best staff officer he ever saw in any army.

CAIRO, July 25.—The steamer James White, from New Orleans, the 18th, has arrived, and reports that the steamer B. M. Runyan, from Natchez, struck a snag off Griffith's Landing, 15 miles below Greenville, Mississippi, on the 1st inst., 10 P. M., and sunk to the hurricane reef in five minutes. She carried 100 people aboard, including 450 of the 10th Missouri Cavalry, fifty refugees and furloughed soldiers, and quite a number of cabin passengers. About fifty lives were lost. Half this number belonged to the cavalry, the remainder, excepting two, were refugees and negroes. But two cabin passengers, a young man named Chapman, of Alton, and a boy, are believed to have been lost.

The gunboat No. 11 came up about 20 minutes after the disaster, and rescued about 40 persons. The others swam ashore. There were also on board 111 mules, 62 horses, 15 wagons, and the camp equipment of the regiment, all of which, with the boat, are a total loss. The White brought up most of the rescued, except the cavalry, who were brought upon the Marine Brigade boat Diana to Memphis.

DIED.

On the 6th inst., in Paris, Ky., Mrs. JANE ELIZA, wife of Dr. Richard Pickover, in the forty-seventh year of her age.

MARRIED.

At the residence of the bride's father, in Newport, Ky., July 12th, by Rev. H. P. Walker, Mr. DORMAN N. DAVIDSON, of Indianapolis, Ind., to Miss JENNIE LEMOND, of Newport. To the happy souls thus drawn together by love's sympathetic cord, we wish every success. May they glide peacefully along life's rugged highway, experiencing every pleasure and escaping every toil, and when time shall have heaped upon their heads a full measure of years, may they, like twin leaves in Autumn, fall gently to the tomb, to bloom in a world where love is immortal.

EDUCATION!

THE SISTERS OF THE VISITATION
WILL OPEN THEIR
NEW ACADEMY FOR YOUNG LADIES,
I MAYSVILLE, MASON CO., KY.,
On the First Monday of September.

This Establishment is conducted by the Religious Sisters of the Visitation, an order founded by St. Francis de Sales in 1610. The members of this Institute devote themselves chiefly to the instruction of Young Ladies, in principles of Virtue and in the various branches of a finished English and Ornamental Education.

The course of instruction comprises Orthography, Reading, Writing, Arithmetic, Grammar, Ancient and Modern Geography, the use of Maps and Globes, French and Italian Languages, Music on the Harp, Piano Forte, Melodeon and Guitar; Vocal Music, Drawing, Painting in water colors, &c., &c.; Plain and Ornamental Needle Work, Tapestry, &c., &c.

The Academy will be vigilant in requiring an exact observance of the rules of the Institution, and strict attention to a polite and amiable deportment. In the course of the Academic year, two examinations will take place; the first in January, and the second in June. At the close of the first a Semi-annual report is transmitted to the parents of each Young Lady, giving an account of her proficiency in her Studies, &c. The Young Ladies at the end of each month are assembled in the presence of their teachers, when a report is made of their advancement in their Studies, and their attention to the rules of the School. The Academic year commences on the first Monday in September, and ends on the last day of June. It is divided into two Sessions. No detention can be made for those who may be withdrawn before the expiration of the Session, unless in case of protracted sickness. A public distribution of Prizes takes place at the close of the year, after the Second examination. Parents and friends of the Institute, are invited to present an authorized ticket at the door. As regards the exact observance of rules, polite deportment, and zeal for advancement, the Young Ladies are divided into two classes; a crown is awarded as the Prize of honor—in each class. To gain the gold Medal, the pupil must receive the crown and the first premium in the highest classes of the principal Studies.

The termination of the Scholastic year, is followed by the annual vacation.

In order to avoid interruption of classes, visits to pupils, are confined to Thursdays; and can be made only by their parents, sisters, aunts and uncles; none others will be received unless formally authorized by parents or guardians. The pupils will be allowed to visit their parents or guardians, on the first Thursday of every month, leaving the Academy at about 6 o'clock, A. M., and returning before midnight. Frequent visits have been found detrimental to the improvement of the pupils, and, unless particularly requested by the parents, it is preferred that they should visit only at the specified times.

The Ladies who have charge of the Institution, profess the Catholic Faith, yet, while the exercises of religious worship are Catholic, members of every other religious denomination are received, with whom no influence will be used to change their belief—but it is required for the maintenance of good order, that they assist with propriety, at the public duties of religion with their companions.

Payments for each Session must be made in advance. The pupils are required to bring with them the original table manuscript, consisting of a knife and fork (silver for preference), a silver dessert spoon, a silver tumbler, four table napkins, and six towels. If the washing is attended to at home, a deduction of $10 will be made.

The uniform in Winter will be Brown Merino dresses, and black aprons; in Summer blue or muslin dresses, black aprons and white straw hats trimmed with blue. Each pupil must have a white Swiss dress and veil and a sun bonnet.

The parents and guardians of Young Ladies from a distance, are requested to designate some correspondent in the city, who will be charged to liquidate their bills.

Letters to be addressed to the Directress of the Academy of the Visitation. All letters are inspected by the Directress of the Academy.

N. B. Parents and guardians, are requested to have all the names of their children or wards marked with their names, before they enter the Institution.

As the number of boarders will be limited, it is necessary to make immediate application. Recommendations required.

Special Notices.

Let those who have doubted the virtues of Bull's Cedron Bitters, if any such there be, read the following Certificate from gentlemen well known in this community, and doubt no more. Its general introduction into the army will save the lives of thousands of our soldiers.

Louisville, Ky., June 3d, 1863.

We, the undersigned, have seen the good effects produced by the use of Dr. John Bull's Cedron Bitters in case of general debility and prostration of the system, and believe its general use would prevent disease and relieve much suffering. Among our soldiers particularly would this be the case, especially those who are exposed to miasmatic influences in the Southern climate.

THE BULLETIN.

MAYSVILLE. - - JULY 28

Increase of the Price of the Bulletin.
The Subscription price of the BULLETIN will hereafter be ONE DOLLAR AND FIFTY CENTS per year, instead of ONE DOLLAR.

The first iron-clad war vessels ever constructed in Russia have just been safely launched from the new dockyard in St. Petersburg. Their names are the Neiron Menya [Touch-me-not] and the Smerch [Water-spout].

Judge Stephen Vail, one of the best machinists in New Jersey, died on Tuesday last. He built the engines of the first steamer that ever crossed the Atlantic.

Locusts are appearing in Wisconsin by the million. They appeared last, in 1848, fifteen years ago. Many cattle have been bitten to death by them.

It is reported that a formal demand for the surrender of Capt. Semmes has been made. The Secretary of State is said to be determined to require of England her observance of international law.

SKIRMISH IN OWEN COUNTY.—A scouting party of twelve men, in command of Captain Davis, of the One Hundred and Sixty-second Ohio, National Guard, fell into an ambuscade of rebel guerrillas, about five miles from Owenton, Owen county, Ky., a few days ago. A brisk fight took place and Captain Davis, being largely outnumbered had to retreat. Two of his men were captured and one wounded. The rebels also captured six horses.

Lieut. G. M. Burrett, One Hundred and Forty-fifth Illinois (one hundred day men) has been dishonorably mustered from the service for leaving his post to trespass on the rights of private citizens, and, while so trespassing, permitting a quiet, peaceable citizen to be shot in his presence, without using any endeavors to prevent it.

The Liverpool and London Insurance Company.

Our readers will remember the great fire that occurred in Louisville several weeks ago, by which several millions of dollars of property was destroyed. The Journal of Friday, July 15th, contains a card from six well known firms in that city, the most reliable in Louisville, and heavy sufferers by the fire, returning thanks to the Louisville agent of the Liverpool and London Insurance Company, for his promptness in adjusting their losses by the fire. The aggregate amount of their losses was $5,714, which was on that day paid in full, without any deduction for interest. Such conduct is indeed praiseworthy, and will afford gratification to the many persons who have their property insured with the Company. It has an immense capital, not fictitious but paid in, never fails to adjust its losses with the utmost promptness and fidelity, and with as little trouble as possible to policy holders. We take pleasure in recommending it to the public. Mr. SAMUEL C. PEARCE is the agent for Maysville, and those who are acquainted with his character as an attentive and trustworthy man of business will feel additional confidence in the Company of which he is the agent.

JOHNSON'S ISLAND, O., July 15, '64.

WANTED!
A GOOD COOK FOR A SMALL FAMILY.
Address, J. W. RAND,
July 25-1t Vanceburg, Lewis county, Ky.

To the Voters of Mason County, 1864
MAYSVILLE, Ky., July 22nd, 1864
Being appointed by the County Court Jailer of Mason County, to fill, until the election, the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of WILLIAM B. PARKER, Esq., I have offered myself for election by the people for the balance of the term.
My appointment by the Court and my official conduct during the three months I have held the office will, I hope, be a recommendation as to my fitness for the place. I have been to a good deal of trouble and expense in moving and taking possession of the Jail and public property of the County, and should feel gratified if the people would elect me to the office for the balance of the term.
My official duties at home require my attention, so that I cannot go out to see you personally—hence I have taken this mode of submitting my claims to your kind consideration.
Yours, respectfully,
JERRY MCNEELY.

MORRIS FRANKLIN, of said City, President of the NEW YORK LIFE INSURANCE CO., being duly sworn, deposes and says that the foregoing statement, and exhibits being duly sworn to, severally depose and say each for himself, that according to the best of their knowledge and belief, the annexed statement, is correct and true; that the assets of said Company were at the statement TWO MILLION, SEVEN HUNDRED AND FIVE THOUSAND, SIX HUNDRED AND SIXTY-SIX DOLLARS, and were invested therein stated and set forth.

MORRIS FRANKLIN, President.
WILLIAM H. BREED, Actuary.
Affirmed and sworn this Twenty-third day of February, A. D. 1864.
THOS. T. SOMMERS, Notary Public.

AUDITOR'S OFFICE, KY., Frankfort, April 16th, 1864.
In witness whereof, I have hereto set my hand and affixed my official seal, the day and [SEAL] year above written.
W. T. SAMUELS, Auditor.

No. 129.—Renewal. AUDITOR'S OFFICE, FRANKFORT, KY., April 16th, 1864.
This is to CERTIFY, That THOS. J. THROOP, as Agent of the New York Life Insurance Company of New York, at Maysville, Mason County, has filed in this office the statements and exhibits required by the provisions of an act, entitled "An act to regulate Agencies of Foreign Insurance Companies," approved March 3, 1856; and it having been shown to the satisfaction of the undersigned that said Company is possessed of an actual capital of at least one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, as required by said act, the said Thos. J. Throop as Agent, as aforesaid, is hereby licensed and permitted to take risks and transact business of Insurance at his office in Maysville, for the term of one year from the date hereof. But this license may be revoked if it shall be made to appear to the undersigned that since the filing of the statements above referred to, the available capital of said Company has been reduced below one hundred and fifty thousand dollars.
IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have set my hand the day and year above written.
WM. T. SAMUELS, Auditor.

$1,000 REWARD.—The above reward will be given to any person who can furnish a prescription for coughs, colds, whooping-cough, asthma, and consumption, which is equal to Dr. Strickland's Mellifluous Cough Balsam. This balsam will cure the above complaints, also spitting of blood and night sweats. One 50 cent bottle is sufficient for any one to try. The worst cases of chronic cough, asthma, whooping-cough and primary cases of consumption are cured by Dr. Strickland's Mellifluous Cough Balsam. It can be had at any other drugget's. It is different from any other cough medicine we have known in this country.

MULLINS & HUNT'S NEW WHOLESALE DRY GOODS STORE!

THE SUBSCRIBERS, LONG ESTABLISHED in a large retail Dry Goods business in Maysville, would call the attention of Country Merchants to their recent addition of an extensive Wholesale Department; which will be conducted on a STRICTLY CASH PRINCIPLE.

The many years of experience possessed by our buyer, combined with a perfect knowledge of the Kentucky trade, a thorough acquaintance with all the Manufacturing and Importing Houses in the East, and the fact of our purchases being made for "Cash," together with a firm determination to sell at a more commission advance on Eastern Cost, will be sufficient guarantees to CLOSE CASH BUYERS that we cannot be undersold by any WESTERN JOBBING HOUSE.

Our Stock will be found better adapted to the wants of our customers than it is usual to find in the generality of JOBBING HOUSES; as it will embrace a greater variety of goods than is ordinarily met with in an exclusive Wholesale Establishment. The departments allotted to

HATS AND CAPS AND Notions,
Will be at all times especially attractive as particular attention will be paid to them, and a

LARGE STOCK
Kept constantly on hand. We would impress upon our friends that in sending us orders they may rely upon having them executed to the fullest extent of our ability.

Mr. Charles W. Landram, of Louisville, and J. P. Hazarde, Cincinnati, O., were both cured after using one pot of Dr. Strickland's Pile Remedy. They say they have tried every thing but could obtain no relief, but one Pot of Strickland's Pile Remedy effected a perfect cure after suffering for many years with the worst kind of Piles. They recommend every one who is suffering to try it.

"It Might Have Been."

Maud Muller on a summer's day,
Raked the meadow, sweet with hay.
Beneath her torn hat glowed the wealth
Of simple beauty and rustic health.
Singing, she wrought, and her merry glee
The mock-bird echoed from his tree.
But when she glanced in the far-off town,
White from its hill she looked down.
The sweet song died, and a vague unrest
And a nameless longing filled her breast.
A wish that she hardly dared to own,
For something better than she had known.
The Judge rode slowly down the lane,
Smoothing his horse's chestnut mane.
He drew his bridle in the shade
Of the apple tree, to greet the maid.
And ask a draught from the spring that flowed
Through the meadow across the road.
She stooped where the cool spring bubbled up,
And filled for him her small tin cup.
And blushed as she gave it looking down
On her feet so bare, and her tattered gown.
"Thank!" said the Judge, a sweeter draught
From a fairer hand was never quaffed.
He spoke of the grass and flowers and trees,
Of the singing birds and the humming bees,
Then talked of the hay, and wonder whether
The cloud in the west would bring foul weather.
And Maud forgot her brier-torn gown,
And her graceful ankles, bare and brown;
And listened, while a pleased surprise
Looked from her long lashed hazel eyes.
At last, like one who feared delay
Sought a vain excuse he rode away.
Maud Miller looked and sighed: "Ah me!
That I the Judge's bride might be!"
"He would dress me up in his silks so fine,
And praise and toast me at his wine."
"My father should wear a broadcloth coat,
My brother should sail a painted boat."
"I'd dress my mother so grand and gay,
And the baby should have a new toy each day."
"And I'd feed the hungry and clothe the poor,
And all should bless me who left our door."
The Judge looked back as he climbed the hill,
And saw Maud Miller standing still.
"A form more fair, a face more sweet,
Ne'er hath it been my lot to meet;
"And her modest answer and her graceful air,
Show her wise and good as she is fair."
"Would she were mine, and I to-day,
Like her a harvest of hay;
No doubtful balance of rights and wrongs,
Nor weary lawyers with heavy tongues."
"But low of cattle and song of birds,
And health and quiet and loving words."
But he thought of his sister proud and cold,
And his mother, vain of her rank and gold.
So, closing his heart, the Judge rode on,
And Maud was left in the field alone.
But the lawyers smile that afternoon,
When he hummed in court an old love tune;
And the young girl mused beside the well,
Till the rain on the unranked clover fell.
He wedded a wife of richest dowry,
Who lived for passion as he for power,
Yet oft, in his marble hearth's bright glow,
He watched a picture come and go:
And sweet Maud Miller's hazel eyes
Looked out in their innocent surprise.
Oft when the wine in his glass was red,
He longed for the way-side well instead;
And closed his eyes on his garished rooms,
To dream of meadows and clover-blossoms.
And the proud man sighed, with a secret pain:
"Ah, that I were free again!
"Free as when I rode that day,
Where the barefooted maiden raked her hay."
She wedded a man unlearned and poor,
And many children played around her door.
But care and sorrow, and child birth pain,
Left their traces on heart and brain.
And oft, when the summer sun shone hot
On the mown hay in the meadow lot,
And she heard the little spring brook fall
Over the roadside through the wall,
In the shade of the apple tree again
She saw a rider draw his rein,
And, gazing down with timid grace,
She felt his pleased eyes read her face.
Sometimes her narrow kitchen walls
Stretch away into stately halls;
The weary wheel to a spindle turned,
The tallow candle an astral burned;
And for him who sat at the chimney lug,
Dosing and grumbling o'er pipe and mug,
A manly form at her side she saw,
And joy was duty and love was law.
Then she took up her burden of life again,
Saying only, "It might have been."
Alas for maiden, alas for judge,
For rich repiner and household drudge!
God pity them, both! and pity us all,
Who vainly the dreams of youth recall.
For all sad words of tongue or pen,
The saddest are these: "It might have been!"
Ah, well! for us all some sweet home lies
Deeply buried from human eyes;
And, in the hereafter, angels may
Roll the stone from its grave away!

STRICKLAND'S
Anti-Cholera Mixture.

Is a composition of astringents, absorbents, stimulants and carminatives, which every physician acknowledges is the only preparation that will effect a permanent cure of Diarrhea and Dysentery. This Anti-Cholera Mixture is now in use in several of our army hospitals where it gives the greatest satisfaction. It has saved the lives of thousands of our soldiers and citizens,
and we will guarantee it to be the best remedy
in the world for Diarrhea and Dysentery.
Mr. Woods, of Covington, Ky., will be most happy to satisfy any one as to the virtue of Strickland's Anti-Cholera Mixture; in fact we have a great number of testimonials from persons who have been cured after being pronounced incurable by their physicians, some after taking only one bottle of Strickland's Anti-Cholera Mixture. If you suffer with Diarrhea and Dysentery try one bottle.
